“If we hold firm, then we shall reign with him.”

Dear friends,

These words from S. Paul speak of our ultimate destiny. We are invited to reign with God in the highest heaven - this is the offer made to us all, to become saints. The Church gives us many saints in order to show us what can be done when people work with God, when people hold firm to the plan given by him. This weekend we will be given a new saint, the first Englishman to be added to the list of saints since 1970, and the only English saint since the Reformation not to have been martyred.

What Pope Francis will do will be to declare that S. John-Henry Newman held firm and so now reigns with Christ. This news should fill us all with joy, because with every new saint given to us we are given an example of how God can work in people's lives - and so how he can work in our lives too. We are also given a new friend in heaven, the saints continue to live united to us on earth; by praying for us they help us to hold firm so that we may join them in heaven.

May the prayers of S. John-Henry, and of all the saints assist as we journey with the Lord.

Blessings, Fr. Thomas.
